ABOUT THE SEMINAR

Education is considered the backbone of any society and is accepted as fundamental right of every individual of a knowledge society. It has been rightly recognized that education is the most important input for the development of an individual, society and a nation. The quality of education at all levels depends upon the abilities and skills of the teachers along with the supportive facilities of the infrastructure. In the whole process of education the role of teacher is crucial. Kothari commission rightly observed that destiny of India is being shaped in her classrooms. It is said that teacher is the source of morality, ideals and regulator of moral values. Eggleston rightly said, to be a teacher is like living a life dedicated to mission impossible. It means that the role of teacher is never ending for a society. The best system may fail to achieve the desired ends if the teacher of that system lacks sincerity, competence, commitment and character.
